

ANTHRAX FAILS TO HALT TRAVEL TO VALLEY ISLE

Anthrax quarantine has not in the slightest degree interfered with travel from Wailuku and points on the island of Maui to Haleakala crater, the scenic wonderland on the Valley Isle, says Worth O. Aiken, the Maui member of the Hawaii Promotion Committee. According to Mr. Aiken, a report had been circulated that horses for carrying travelers and those used as pack animals had been barred because of a restriction imposed by the federal authorities, now at work stamping out the disease.

Mr. Aiken adds that while horses from Wailuku and points below the mountain levels were barred from the mountains, horses kept at idle level are free to be used between the termini of the county automobile road, and the summit of Haleakala crater. Several parties of delighted tourists returned from "The House of the Sun," in the inter-island steamer Mauna Kea today. The new rest house, recently renovated and placed in first class repair, is now a recognized stopping place for those touring the island of Maui.

ISLAND EGGS SOAR AS COAST PRODUCT FALLS

Hawaii Hen Fruit Retailers at 70 Cents a Dozen as Against 45 Cents for California

Although the price of island eggs is soaring as the supply dwindles, the price of California eggs is falling. At the Territorial Marketing Division island eggs are now retailing 70 cents a dozen while a week ago they were selling for 65 cents a dozen. At May & Co. California eggs can be bought for 45 cents a dozen while island eggs can be purchased only part of the time.

Chun Hoon, dealer in vegetables and other perishable foods on the market, is selling island eggs at 65 cents a dozen wholesale, and says he expects the price to go higher. However, he does not believe that island eggs are going to sell for as high as $1 a dozen.

The high price of island eggs is attributed to insufficient supply and the great demand. Chun Hoon says that many of the poultry dealers are killing off their hens on account of the high cost of feed.

OUTSIDE JUDGE HEARS OIL CASE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—United States District Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe, sitting in the Southern District of California, and before whom many of the oil land suits between the government and private owners of land are pending, was disqualified to sit in these cases by a writ of mandamus handed down yesterday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The decision was rendered in the suit of recovery instituted by the United States government against the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company, the petitioners alleging that Judge Bledsoe was disqualified to sit in the case because when the suit was commenced he owned a block of stock in the Consolidated Midway Oil Company. The mandamus suit was of a friendly nature, to determine whether or not Judge Bledsoe was disqualified, although he had voluntarily withdrawn from two suits where similar objection had been raised. The suggested disqualification was, that where the judge has a law suit, pending or impending with another person, and which rests upon the same point of law involved before him, it is sufficient ground for disqualification. Judge Bledsoe had disposed of his Midway oil stock, but not until after the suit against the Honolulu company had been instituted by the Federal government.

The bankruptcy of R. R. Sterling was shifted to Pier 17 this morning.

HEAVY DEMAND MAKES SUGAR MARKET ACTIVE

(By Nevins & Callaghan.)

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 29.—Throughout the past week the market has been very active with a sharply rising trend, and through a series of advances the price of Cubas has been carried up to 5 1/2c basis 96° c.&f. (6.52c) which shows a gain of .50c from the closing price a week ago. This decided improvement may be largely attributed to the very good demand, both domestic and foreign, for refined sugar which has been experienced this week, and to cover which, refiners have found it necessary to become free buyers of raws which could only be obtained at constantly advancing prices. Another strengthening factor has been the steady inquiry for Cuban raws by the British Commission who gradually raised their bids from 4.50c up to 5.00c f.o.b., and who did not secure any important quantity of sugar until the latter price was approached. The details of this business have been withheld but the quantity sold is not generally believed to have been large.

At the close of last week and the opening of this week some large export orders of refined were filled and refiners thereupon bought up all the Cubas for June and July shipment available at 5c basis 96° c.&f. Although the sales of Cubas reported at this price amounted to only some 125,000 bags it is generally believed that fully as much more were sold privately on the same basis. Following these sales offerings of Cubas became quite limited, and as a brisk domestic demand for refined then developed, the market assumed a very strong tendency, and moderate sales of Cubas for June and July shipment were recorded from day to day at steadily advancing prices up to 4 1/2c basis 96° c.&f. (6.52c), which was paid at the close of the week for first half August shipment.

The firmer tendency displayed in the raw market, stimulated a very good domestic demand for refined sugar so much so that refiners refused to take all the business offered to them at 7.50c less 2%. The American S. R. Co. and National S. R. Co. made no change in price but after accepting a fair amount of business at 7.50c less 2%, refused to sell any more at this price except in a very limited way. The Federal S. R. Co., Warner S. R. Co. and Arbuckle Bros. advanced prices to 7.75c less 2%, but the latter named refiners subsequently withdrew from the market and the Federal S. R. Co. and Warner S. R. Co. advanced their quotations to the basis of 8c less 2%. The full details of the export business have not been made public, but it is estimated that the quantity thus sold totals 50,000 tons at prices ranging from 6.50c to 6.75c net in bond.

Next mail from San Francisco will arrive Wednesday on the Matson liner Matsonia.

CRUISER BOSTON NOW CARGO SHIP

After playing an important part in Hawaiian history because she landed United States sailors here in the revolution of 1893, the famous old cruiser Boston is being converted at Seattle into a cargo ship for the United States Shipping Board, and will "do her bit" for Uncle Sam as a unit of our merchant marine.

When Queen Liliuokalani was de-throned in 1893 the Boston, anchored in "Navy Row" on the waterfront, landed her crew by order of U. S. Minister John L. Stevens, who proclaimed a protectorate over the provisional government of Hawaii.

The Boston was one of the original "White Squadron" of the United States Navy and was in the Spanish War. Of recent years she has been out of commission and there has been some speculation in Honolulu as to what had become of her, which the news from Seattle will end.

START DRAWING PLANS FOR KALIHU SEWER SYSTEM

Work of drawing the plans and specifications for the installation of a sewer system in Kalihi has been undertaken by the sewer department for which $45,000 was appropriated out of the cash basis fund by the last legislature.

As soon as this work is finished a field survey party will be sent out and on the receipts of its report bids for the work will be called for. It is estimated by Harry Murray, superintendent, that bids will be called about the middle of August.

COAL CARGO IS ABOARD SERAPIS

Another ex-German vessel has been chartered by the U. S. Shipping Board to the inter-island, to bring a cargo of coal here, according to the San Francisco Examiner. She is the steamer Serapis.

"The Serapis," says the newspaper, "has been assigned to a run to Honolulu with coal for the inter-island Steam Navigation Company of Honolulu, which controls the Honolulu bunkers and the inter-island service of Hawaii. Her net tonnage is 3068, so that she should carry 5000 tons of coal."

"Two other German vessels are on their way here under their own power with cargo for this port. The Mark is consigned to the Pacific Mail Company and the Bochun to the Robert Dollar Company. On arrival they will be repaired and disposition made of them by the shipping board."

"Yesterday the Northern Light, formerly the German ship Steinbek, came in under tow of the tug Henry J. Biddle, recently bought by the Western Fuel Company. The Northern Light had a cargo of coal from Nanaimo and will be used by the Western Fuel Company until such time as the coal shortage is relieved here."

The Northern Light is reported by the Merchants' Exchange to have left San Francisco June 28 for this port, but the inter-island claims to know nothing about her.

HARBOR NOTES

Next mail for San Francisco will leave Tuesday, on an Oceanic liner. The Union Oil tanker Lansing will arrive tomorrow morning from Port San Luis, California.

The Standard Oil tanker J. A. Moffett arrived this morning and docked at Pier 17 to discharge her cargo of fuel oil brought from San Pedro.

To begin loading canned pineapples for Seattle, the shipping board's steam schooner Columbia, having discharged her coal cargo, was moved to Pier 18 today.

The shipping board's four-masted bark Red Jacket was shifted from Pier 17 to the inter-island coal wharf this morning to begin discharging the 4000 tons of coal she has in her holds for the inter-island.

Manager John K. Clarke of Hind, Rolph & Company's local agency reports the Hind-Rolph schooner Robt. R. Hind to be on her way to Honolulu with a cargo of lumber, probably 750,000 feet, for Allen & Robinson.
